We got another A!!

We are pleased to announce that we have again had a successful completion of an independent peer review of our accounting and auditing practice. Our peer review results came in and, as we had hoped, we got another A!

Why is this important to you? Good question! Most accountants are concerned about providing their clients with a quality service and, as such, many choose to have another CPA firm review the quality of their work once every three years. Our participation in the peer review process demonstrates our firm's desire to meet the profession's high standards of professionalism and our commitment to maintaining, and improving the quality of our practice.

Firms receive the following ratings as a result of the review. The ratings come in the following four types:

- Pass (no problems noted)
- Pass with deficiency (minor problems noted)
- Pass with deficiencies (major problems were noted in a few instances)
- Fail (major problems were noted in many instances)

In our case, we received a rating of pass with no problems noted. Thus, we got another A! This means that you can rest assured that our work exhibits a level of excellence not easily matched in our industry. In fact, only 27% of the firms in the nation receive a rating of pass with no problems noted.

As you might imagine, we're extremely proud that we achieved these results. But your opinion of our services is the real test and, as such, is more important to us than the results of any review. Therefore, please never fail to let us know if there is any way that we can serve you better.
